

Additional Details

Q: Who is the camp suitable for?

A: Camp is great for players from 6-14 years old at an advanced level of play. Players are grouped so they are with others of a similar age and skill.

Q: What will the players work on?

A: Players will learn skills aimed at developing a solid base of technical skills that will allow development of a game free of "red flags". This is to allow players to execute all tactics and become champions.

Q: Will the players spend time off the court?

A: Players will spend the majority of their time on the court. Match charting, annual planning, and strategy sessions may be done in a classroom setting if the coaching staff feel this will enhance retention.

Q: Will the players be exposed to physical training?

A: Yes. Players will work on agility, balance, coordination, flexibility, and speed as part of a comprehensive holistic regimen. We understand that developing better athletes compliments tennis specific skills.

Players must be at an appropriate level to be included in the UTC High Performance Tennis Camp. Players who are not at the required level will be moved to the recreational camp.

Develop the Person! – not just the Player

Camp staff look to develop great people by stressing strong values throughout training. Players are taught to give the strongest possible effort at all times while still displaying sportsmanship at the highest level.

Unionville High Performance Tennis Camp 2024

Develop skills to the highest level!!

“Developing a solid base of technical, tactical, and physical fundamentals allows players do develop without limitations. This is how champions are made!”

High performance Pedigree!

Andy Sutton has over 30 years of experience running tennis camps in the Markham area. He has spent years coaching players who have competed at the highest level provincially, nationally, and internationally.

Andy is a Tennis Canada certified Coach 3 and an Ontario Tennis Association certified Club Professional 3. He is the Head Ontario Coach Developer and in that role is responsible for leading the team that trains the future generation of tennis coaches in the province. He has also spent time teaching in the Provincial Training Regroupings at Tennis Canada.

Andy and his dedicated staff work to develop technical, tactical, physical, and psychological skills so players maximize their game in match situations. We ensure young players to have a full set of skills to become future champions.

Camp Details

Q: What is covered during each session?

A: Players work on developing fundamental movement and racquet skills that will allow for a solid technical base. They also work on gaining a tactical understanding of the game that will be built upon as they get older.

Q: How much time is spent on the court each day?

A: We spend the entire session on the court. Physical development is done on the court in a way that replicates the movements needed to play at a high level. We give a 10 minute break half way through the session for a snack.

Q: How many are in a group?

A: We have a hard cap of 4 players per regulation court to allow training volume to be maximized. Red ball players will have a max of 2 players per red court.

Q: What do campers need to bring?

A: Tennis clothes, court shoes, a hat, sunscreen, a water bottle, skipping rope, and their racquets. A change of clothes is needed for hot days.

Q: Who teaches the kids?

A: All coaches are Tennis Canada certified and have been trained by Andy Sutton in the courses that he leads.

Q: What happens when it rains?

A: Players will do tactical, mental, physical, and other match relevant training.
